The COVID-19 pandemic forced the international arbitration community to embrace technology to remain connected and allow international dispute resolution to proceed. Looking forward, can young practitioners lead the way in using technology to make international arbitration more efficient, diverse, and sustainable?

Join YSIAC and KCAB Next for a virtual happy hour and discussion of the future of technology and arbitration. Attendees and panelists will participate in casual conversations on the role of technology in arbitrator appointments, document disclosure, green arbitrations, and virtual hearings. A brief panel session will recap the perspectives shared by the attendees.

Bring a drink, unwind, and join the conversation.

Attendees will be asked to participate live through Zoom with audio and video.
